CERTIFICATE OF AUTHENTICITY

Authentic Item: Robert Mackie of Scotland Glengarry Plain Hat.

This is to certify that the item that this certificate is attached to is a 100% genuine and authentic piece by Robert Mackie of Scotland Ltd.

Robert Mackie of Scotland Ltd started making Bonnets "traditional Scottish head wear Glengarries and Balmorals" from its roots in the heart of Ayrshire in 1845. The company has continued to build on its reputation of only producing the finest quality and continues to manufacture to these exacting standards.

Handcrafted the Glengarry gets the unique shape from our specially starched hessian, followed by our hand stitched 100% cotton lining. The 100% pure lambswool crown is knitted in-house and then topped using a pure wool pom, making every piece of the Glengarry a bespoke creation of the generations of skilled workforce that have perfected the craft. The quality of the product is at the pinnacle of excellence and you can virtually feel the pride swell up inside you each time you wear one.

The company is the only authentic Scottish manufacturer of individually hand crafted Glengarries and Balmorals in the world. Using traditional methods each hat is made to measure and is individually hand finished by an experienced Scottish workforce.

From its inception the company has supplied ceremonial headwear for the Scottish Regiments and today supplies the leading pipe bands throughout the world along with many Clan Associations.

Robert Mackie is very proud of its heritage and authenticity; Made in Scotland stands for quality and craftsmanship. Selecting only the finest raw materials these pure wool bonnets retain their exceptional level of appearance. When you buy a Robert Mackie Glengarry hat, you are buying a piece of handcrafted heritage.
